ABOUT ME

I'm a creatively driven individual with a strong foundation in cultural aesthetics and design thinking. My work is deeply rooted in exploring heritage while translating it into contemporary, functional garments. I have a keen interest in material experimentation, focusing on textures, structure, and innovative fabric use. I aim to create clothing that balances modesty, elegance, and bold expression. With an eye for detail and storytelling, I strive to design pieces that are both meaningful and wearable. My approach blends tradition with modern sensibilities to craft unique, statement-driven fashion.
